

BARBARESCO

For many producers, the appellation's small size is a blessing: 'Of the four major Italian DOCG wines, Barbaresco has the smallest production: our wines are the rarest – another factor that adds to their mystique,' says Alberto di Gresy of Cisa Asinari Marchesi di Gresy.

He also believes that the recent 2011 vintage will further help Barbaresco's cause: 'It's one of the best vintages in memory. The wines are fuller bodied than usual, but retain their proverbial grace and charm, so there's never been an easier time to become a Barbaresco lover.'

So in many respects, these are the best of times for Barbaresco. Wine lovers everywhere would do well to fill up their glasses, and their wine cellars, with the best that the region has to offer. There are fewer wines made anywhere in the world that will guarantee as much pleasure. D

D'Agata's top 20 Barbarescos to try

Bruno Giacosa, Asili 2005 19/20 (96/100)

£90 Armit Wines

Rich and textured, but more austere than Giacosa's Santo Stefano di Neive. Very long, with red cherry fruit, truffle and earthy tones.

Drink 2015-2035 Alcohol 13.5%

Angelo Gaja 2004 18.75 (95+)

£100-£120 Fine & Rare, Great Eastern

Fine Wines

Balanced, graceful and long – the hallmark of Gaja's wines – this has a bit more size thanks to a warmer year. The estate makes more famous wines, but I think this Barbaresco is the best. Drink 2015-2025 Aic 14%

Cisa Asinari Marchesi di Gresy, Martinenga Camp Gros 2008

18.75 (95+)

£63-£70 Boutinot, Millésima, Woodwinters

Minerals, underbrush and cherries; classically styled with high acidity and firm tannins. Needs time.

Drink 2018-2030 Aic 14%

Ceretto, Bricco Asili 1989 18.5 (95)

£121 Fine & Rare

Vibrant and long, with lovely tobacco, red cherry and camphor notes and the tell-tale 1989 creaminess. Drink 2015-2020 Aic 14%

Musso, Pora 2011 18.5 (95)

£30 The Tasting Room

Mesmerisingly perfumed – red roses, minerals and sour red cherries – and mineral. A winner. Drink 2015-30 Aic 13.5%

Pio Cesare, Il Bricco 2010 18.5 (95)

£64-£75 Fine & Rare, Mondial, Peake

Wines, Planet of the Grapes, Richard

Dawes, Uncorked, Wine Reserve

High acidity, steely and almost lean, but amazingly perfumed.

Drink 2018-30 Aic 14%

Produttori di Barbaresco, Pajè

2008 18.5 (95)

£30-£39 Astrum, Cavex, Fine & Rare, Four Walls

Wine Co, Millésima, Woodwinters

Delicious rose and red cherry nuances backed up by noteworthy but polished tannins. Pajè doesn't get any better than this.

Drink 2020-35 Aic 14%

Roagna, Asili 2008 18.5 (95)

£90 Armit Wines

Sharply acidic and tannic, but with wonderfully pure red berry and Asili minerality. Still a bruiser – cellar this for another decade. Drink 2018-2030 Aic 14%

Angelo Pastura 2011 18.25 (94)

N/A UK www.angelopastura.com

Very precise red berry and flinty mineral notes, complicated by red roses. Little-known, small but promising producer. Drink 2015-2025 Aic 13.5%

Cascina Bruciata, Rio Sordo

2006 18.25 (94)

N/A UK www.cascinabruciata.it

High acidity and noteworthy tannins provide support to Rio Sordo's typically soft, rich, ripe red cherry and marzipan characters.

Drink 2015-2026 Aic 14%

Luigi Giordano, Montestefano 2011 18.25 (94)

N/A UK www.luigiordano.it

A high acid spine lifts pretty red cherry and orange peel notes. Very Montestefano – assertive tannins. Drink 2016-2025 Aic 13.5%

Sottimano, Pajore 2006

18.25 (94)

£48 Lea & Sandeman

Linear, very pure aromas and flavours of gunflint and red cherry. Lovely balance and real Pajore breed and power. Drink 2018-2030 Aic 14%

Nada Fiorenzo, Rombone 1998

18 (93)

£40-£46.86 A&B Vintners, Fine & Rare

Rich and suave, with Rombone's typical balsamic edge and darker fruit notes. Still youthful, and a major success for a vintage of mostly lean wines. Drink 2015-2024 Aic 13.5%

Castello di Neive, Santo Stefano 2007

17.75 (92)

£38 Fortyfive10

Typical Castello di Neive – lovely balance to the red cherry, violet and marzipan aromas and flavours. Drink 2015-2025 Aic 14%

Castello di Verduno, Rabaja

2008 17.75 (92)

£26 Lay & Wheeler

Very floral and clean red berries on the nose and palate. Slightly austere with a very saline finish.

Drink 2018-2028 Aic 13.5%

Albino Rocca 2002 17.5 (91)

N/A UK www.albinorocca.com

Soft red fruit and sweet spice nuances – ready to drink. A major success in a poor vintage. Drink 2015 Aic 13%

Ca' del Baio, Asili 2011 17.5 (91)

£25-£34 Eurowines, Fine & Rare

Underbrush and coffee complement dark red cherry notes. A bit more herbal than usual. Drink 2020-2035 Aic 14%

Marco e Vittorio Adriano, Sanavaide 2010

17.5 (91)

N/A UK www.adrianovini.it

Great example of San Rocco Seno d'Elvio's lighter frame and irresistible early appeal. 'Sanavaide' is the name in dialect of San Rocco Seno d'Elvio. Drink 2018-2026 Aic 13.5%

Cecilia Monte 2010 17.25 (90+)

N/A UK +39 0173 67454

Very ripe aromas and flavours of dark cherry, cocoa and balsamic spices. Monte is the wife of Maurizio Garola of Ciau del Tornavento, one of Piedmont's best restaurants.

Drink 2017-2024 Aic 13%

Moccagatta 2010 17.25 (90+)

£28 Gerrard Seel

Intense violets and dark berries.

Vibrant and fragrant, from a mix of Barbaresco and Treiso grapes.

Drink 2018-2025 Aic 13.5%
